The Highs and Lows of the Cannabis Waste Industry

Learn about the potential environmental impacts of growing, processing and disposing of cannabis, how various jurisdictions have dealt with these issues (or not), and how cannabis industry participants can minimize environmental risk in the management of their waste.

Thursday, October 10
2:00pm - 2:30pm
Social Square booth #1535

Presented by:

Richard Butler
Partner, Wilms & Shier
Environmental Lawyers LLP

Richard provides advice and support to clients on all aspects of environmental law including regulatory compliance and approvals, contaminated land investigations and remediation and spills response, wastewater discharges and waste management. He is leading the firm's cannabis practice, including regulation at the federal, provincial and municipal levels. The firm has experience in cannabis waste, waste water and greenhouse regulation, agricultural practices and exemptions.
